Method of Treatment

Remaining
31 December	2
31 January	10
28 February	9

The Catarrhs having been the prevailing Complaint on this Station I Shall on this Case occupy your attention, and particularly on those of a phlogistic character. in this Case I find that Blood Letting More or less according to the nature and Height of the Symptoms, diaphoretic mixture, with Spirit Nitr. Dul. & antimonial wine, would in the Course of Twenty four hours Correct the diathesis. after having produced an Ease in the System and an indication of a necessity of Expediting the Excretion of the bile & mucus of the Stomach and Lungs, I would then administer two Grains of Emet. Tart. & about two drachms of antimonial wine ℞ Sufficient to procure three or four vomitting & one or two downwards discharges. this to gether with some mild diluent drinks. a little warmed & Sweeten such as Chammomil, Balm, or Barly tea would Safely promote a Gentle perspiration. the patient after this treatment being generally relieved from that phlogistic State would Give an opportunity of passing a Cathartic Community of Calomel & Jalap; - I have therefore observed this treatment to be the best adapted in this disease, as in a few days the patient would Recover his Health and be fit to duty

Rheumatic Complaints have likewise very frubblsom to Some & very often Complicated the Catarrh, therfore in this Case I Shall include them With that Disease, & Except when by themselfs, the R. G. Guayacum internally administered, the Embrocations with Liniment. Soap, the Flesh Brushes frictions & when tenations the applications of Blisters would Generally after while Remove them

The Diarrhoas on this Station have been of more mild a nature and have often Subsided to a vomit, or mild Cathartics, if obstinate a few doses of Calomel from thirty to fourty Grains would make a Cure the Intermitting being Still less in number have Subsided in less then 6 or 8 days after Evacuants, & Strong Doses of Bark administered at the first of the paroxism - -

Journal of USS United States. 1802-1803.
U.S.S. Constitution Museum
Boston, MA

Condition On Receipt: The full reverse leather stationery binding was dirty and abraded, particularly at the corners. The endcaps were torn. The front and back joints and internal hinges were broken in places. The sewing was weak, but intact. Several pages had been cut or torn out of the volume. Portions of several additional pages had been cut out of the volume. The pages were dirty, discolored, stained, and foxed. Some had tears and cuts. An enclosure was laid into the volume. It was very dirty, discolored, stained, and creased.

Treatment: The volume was photographed. The pH was recorded before and after treatment (before 3.5; after, 9.0). The volume was disbound retaining the original sewing. The inks were tested for solubility. The head, tail, and pages were dry cleaned and nonaqueously buffered (deacidified) with methoxy magnesium methyl carbonate solution. Tears were mended and folds guarded where necessary with Japanese paper and rice starch paste. The sewing was reinforced. Handmade paper ends with a linen hinge were attached. The binding was repaired by rebacking using goat leather which was dyed with Fiebings Leather Dye. The original spine was too deteriorated to reuse. The original title label was adhered to the new spine. A drop-spine box was made to our specifications by Ann Pelikan, Boxmaker.
